I have just come across a cool social networking site called Mydish.co.uk where you can store and share all those favourite recipes.

Mydish has loads of great recipes from all around the world but currently there are not many Indian ones. I have joined a group called the Taste of India http://www.mydish.co.uk/recipe-group/1907/taste_of_india and uploaded my favourite dish Jeera Chicken http://www.mydish.co.uk/recipe/252/jeera_chicken which my mother in law use to make. So what about adding your special Indian dish so we can build the biggest group on the site.

You can also create your very own personalised cook book with all your favourite dishes with photos and everything. This is such a great gift where you can keep all your family recipes and pass them on to your family and children.
